

Certification equivalents

The Professional Diploma in UX Design from the UX Design Institute is accredited by Glasgow Caledonian University. On the Scottish Credit and Qualifications Framework, it is a Level 8 qualification.

It's a globally recognised qualification, should your career take you abroad.

Depending on the country where you are based, there will be an equivalent qualification in the relevant educational system. Check out the table below where we list many regions.

If you don't see your country listed or you have any questions, feel free to send us an email.
